Introduction

The lines on the palm foretell a lot about our future and fortune. Palmistry has also made a distinct contribution as far as travels is concerned.

There are two distinct ways of telling travels and voyages from the hands.

One is the form of heavy distinct lines on the face of the Mount of Luna; the other from the little hair-lines that leave the line of life but travel on with it.

This indication is similar to that of the lines of the life dividing in the hand: if one branch goes around Venus, the other proceeding to the base of the Mount of Luna, it foretells that the subject will make some great change from his native land to another.

It therefore follows that the journeys told by the change in the line of life are far more important than the lines on Luna, which relate to the minor changes or travels of the subject.

When the line of fate shows a considerable and beneficial change at the same point, then these lines are prosperous and fortunate. When the line of fate, however, does not show any advantage gained at the same point, then the subject will not improve to any great extent in worldly matters by the change.

Significance Of Travel Lines

The following points need to be noticed, for the purpose of determining travels and voyages from the line of the hands.

1. When the journey line will end with a small cross, the journey will end in disappointment.
2. When the travel line ends in a square, it denotes danger from the journey, but the subject will be protected.
3. When the line ends with an island, no matter how small, the journey will end with a loss.
4. On the Mount of Luna, the ascendant lines from the first bracelet are the most beneficial.

5. When the line crosses the hand and enters the mount of Jupiter, great position and power will be attained by the subject and the traveling too will be a long one.

6. When the travel line runs into the mount of the Saturn, some fatality will govern the entire journey.

7. When it runs to the Mount of Sun, the journey promises riches and fame and is also very favorable.

9. If the travel line runs into the head and causes a spot, island or a break, it foretells some danger to the head or some malady arising from such a journey.

10. Any square on the travel line, foretells danger, accident and misfortune, but the subject will be protected from all sorts of accidents.

Conclusion

To the lines of the head, the same rules will be applicable, with the difference that the danger will be direct to the head itself.

But if the accident line cuts or break the head line, it denotes serious shock or injury to the brain.
